Fair and Impartial Police Training Returns to Rockville

The Rockville City Police Department is offering free Fair and Impartial Policing training for community members. The training bias-free behavior in community policing. It gives community members tools to better communicate with police officers so that community members and police can work together and make their community safer and more resilient. Join us on Saturday, June 12, 2021 from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. at the Social Hall at the F. Scott Fitzgerald Theater, 603 Edmonston Drive.

An FIP national instructor will lead a roundtable discussion session specifically designed for community members, covering the following topics:

- What is implicit bias? Participants will learn about the modern science of bias and prejudice, including implicit bias.
- How might implicit bias manifest in police and in community members?
- What can individuals and agencies do to promote bias-free behavior? Participants will learn skills for reducing and managing bias.
- What is RCPD doing to promote fair and impartial policing?

This training is open to Rockville residents only. Refreshments and breakfast fare will be served. Register here bit.ly/FIPJune2021
