9PM ROUTINE: MAKE THEFT PREVENTION A HABIT

You probably already know the value of positive habits. Research shows that habits are set in motion by “triggers”, certain context clues that signal you to perform an act nearly automatically, like buckling your seat-belt when you sit down in a car.

Today, why not set up a trigger that can make you and your property safer? Police agencies nationwide are encouraging their community members to establish a 9 PM Routine:

Every day at 9 PM, ensure that you’ve locked your vehicle and home, activated your alarms and security cameras, and have brought-in your outdoor valuables.
